GUIDELINES

Bunzl Canada Inc. is pleased to offer the Bunzl Canada Indigenous Youth Scholarship. This scholarship aims to address the systemic barriers that Indigenous students might face and promote greater equity and inclusion. The goal of this scholarship is to provide opportunities for Indigenous students to pursue their academic goals and achieve their full potential.

Here's what you need to know.

NUMBER, VALUE, AND DURATION OF SCHOLARSHIPS

Up to one scholarship, valued at $3,000 Canadian per year, is available to an eligible student pursuing their studies at the bachelor-level. The scholarship can be renewed for up to four years or until you earn your first bachelor's degree.

Note: Only the first 30 submitted applications will be accepted for consideration for the scholarship.

ELIGIBILITY

You are eligible if you:

- You are a Canadian citizen or a Permanent Resident of Canada.
- You identify as Status Indian, Non-Status Indian, Inuit, or Métis.
- Are entering full-time studies in a first bachelor in the 2025-2026 academic year.
- Have a minimum cumulative average of 75% or equivalent over the last three terms of available marks.

ELIGIBLE INSTITUTIONS

You can study at Canadian educational institutions that have recognized degree granting powers or their affiliates (e.g., universities)

FIELDS OF STUDY PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

Your program of study can be in any field or discipline in the pursuit of your first bachelor's degree. University preparatory programs such as CEGEP pre-university diplomas are not eligible.

CONDITIONS/RESTRICTIONS

- If you start post-secondary studies in January, you are eligible for the summer competition of the same year.
- You may have taken up to two years off after high school or CEGEP (Province of Quebec) before starting university or college studies as long as you haven't enrolled in any post-secondary courses during this time.
- Bunzl Canada Inc. retains the right to change or end the sponsorship of the scholarship plan without notice.
- For recipients renewing their scholarship, you will receive a prompt from SPC in the spring of the following year, informing you that you can complete the acceptance of your scholarship renewal by providing the necessary documentation. Following the completion of this task, the scholarship payments will be disbursed to your institution.

HOW TO APPLY?

To apply for the scholarship, please submit an online application no later than 1:00 pm EDT April 2, 2025 by visiting <https://portal.scholarshippartners.ca/welcome/BunzlEn/>

Remember, the application must be completed and submitted by you and not by your parent or guardian. If you have any questions, please contact SPC at <https://spc.univcan.ca/>

REQUIRED DOCUMENTS:

1. Both an academic and an extracurricular reference form from someone not related to you;
2. Transcripts of the last three terms of available marks. Home school grades will only be accepted if they have been validated through a recognized independent evaluation process.
3. You will be asked to provide a 250-word essay outlining:

Please tell us about yourself and your Indigenous heritage, and how receiving this scholarship will contribute to your personal growth.

4. Applicants are required to upload current and valid documentation that supports their citizenship, membership, registration, or enrolment within a First Nations [Status or Non-Status], Inuit, or Métis community, as recognized by the Government of Canada. This documentation must be one of the approved forms listed below.

Status First Nations: A Status First Nations applicants must provide documentation to verify their status within First Nations communities. Accepted documents include a valid Certificate of Indian Status (commonly known as a "Status Card") or a citizenship, membership, registration, or enrolment card issued by one of the following authorities:

- The Registrar of the Federal Government's Indian Register;
- A Band within the meaning of the Indian Act that has control of its membership list; or
- An Indigenous group under a modern land claims agreement.

The document should be in the scholarship applicant's name and, if possible, include their birth date. If dated, it must not be expired at the time of submission.

Non-Status First Nations: In situations where documentation is unavailable due to displacement or lack of formal recognition, applicants can provide a letter of support that:

- Is authored, signed, and dated (within one year of the application deadline) by a representative of a recognized Indigenous organization.
- The author must provide their contact details (email address and phone number).
- Identifies the applicant's name and, if possible, their birth date.
- Details the applicant's lineage and connection to the Indigenous community, including a narrative of their heritage.
- Provide a historical and geographical account of the applicant's ties to the community.

Clarifications for Non-Status Applicants:

- Accepted Organizations: The letter of support must come from recognized Indigenous organizations such as First Nation councils, provincial or territorial Indigenous advocacy groups (e.g., Native Women's Association of Canada or Friendship Centres), or other groups actively involved in Indigenous rights that are recognized in Canada.

- Representative Requirements: The letter of support must be signed by an individual with authority in the organization (e.g., an elder, chief, or director of cultural programs) and dated (within one year of the application deadline) by a representative of a recognized Indigenous organization. The author must provide their contact details (email address and phone number).
- Letter Content: The letter must outline the applicant's connection to their heritage and explain the lack of formal documentation due to colonialism, displacement, or administrative issues. It should include geographical or cultural context.
- Alternative Evidence: If a letter from an accepted organization cannot be obtained, applicants may provide a combination of supporting documents such as family records, oral histories from elders, or historical documents that demonstrate the family's Indigenous ancestry.

Métis: Applicants who identify as Métis must provide documentation to verify their citizenship, membership or registration within a recognized Métis nation, community, or group. Accepted documents include a valid Métis citizenship, membership, registration, or enrolment card issued by:

- One of the Métis Settlements in Alberta;
- A provincial organization that is a member of the Métis National Council, which includes the Métis Nation British Columbia, the Métis Nation of Alberta, the Métis Nation-Saskatchewan, the Manitoba Métis Federation, and the Métis Nation of Ontario;
- An Indigenous group under a modern land claims agreement; or
- A Métis organization that is recognized by the Government of Canada.

The document should be in the scholarship applicant's name and, if possible, include their birth date. If dated, it must not be expired at the time of submission.

Inuit: Applicants who identify as Inuit must provide documentation to verify their citizenship or membership or registration within a recognized Inuit community or group. Accepted documents include a valid Inuit Métis citizenship, membership, registration, or enrolment card issued by:

- An Inuit organization recognized by the Government of Canada;
- An Inuit organization recognized by the Government of Nunavut; or
